Gujarat.
12. WHETHER OBJECTIVES WERE ACHIEVED : Yes
13. ACHIEVEMENTS FROM THE PROJECT :

The project have been successful as the response from the sample population gave the proper insight about the level of awareness of the climate change and its effect on the human rights and thus can be helpful to plan the road ahead.

14. SUMMARY OF THE FINDINGS :

The climate change phenomenon refers to seasonal changes over a long period with respect to the growing accumulation of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere. Several parts of the world have already experienced the warming of coastal waters, high temperatures, a marked change in rainfall patterns, and an increased intensity and frequency of storms. Rising sea levels and temperatures are expected to be an increasing trend.

It was found that most of them are aware of climate change, though may be not aware of the term but are surely aware of its concept. The general public is also aware of the ill effects of our actions on climate change and thus on future generation. By creating a better awareness among the local public about the ill-effects of climate change and ways to curb them, the condition can be improved.

Now- a-days people are more educated and are willing to work for betterment of the climate which in turn can help to curb the ill effects of the climate change. The government of Gujarat should takes measures to involve and aware the citizens of the state to control the state vulnerabilities to severe climate changes.

15. CONTRIBUTION TO THE SOCIETY

The Project would be useful to society as it will aim at creating more awareness in the society. It will guide the government of Gujarat in taking required measures to involve and aware the citizens of the state to control the state vulnerabilities to severe climate changes.
